

Happy Chap Sensory

At our Summer Fayre the parents of Ella Eagle in Red Class will have a stall selling sensory toys/chews. Their new company is called Happy Chap Sensory and they have written a little description of what they sell.

"We set up the business in memory of our beautiful boy Rocky, aiming to sell sensory toys/chews that we have found work very well with both our children.

They're often incredibly expensive online so being able to offer more affordable options was our goal.

We currently have Lego style necklace chews as well as animal shaped chews with a custom safety attachment which clip easily onto any piece of clothing or even wheelchair straps."
